DRUNKENNESS OR THE INCREASE.—Temporary societies, no doubt, do a great deal of good, yet criminal statistics, compiled by the police, show an increase of more than forty per cent in the convictions for drunkenness before the magistrates in England and Wales in 1871, as compared with the average of the previous ten years. The Excise and Customs returns show a vast increase in the consumption of all kinds of drink, and especially of spirits. The country has been thriving, wages have been high, and the surplus earnings, it is said, have been spent chiefly in liquor. High wages seem to mean, it is declared, only more drinking, and more drink means more wife-beating at home and more fighting in the streets. The number of open and unwholesome drinking places has, indeed, passed away from the upper classes, but the poisoning of people by liquor goes on quite as much as before, the very moderation in drinking which now prevails exercising in more widely so that even ladies are indulged, and the final effect, though more gradually reached, is as bad as it ever was. A year ago, the British medical men, joined in a declaration upon the subject, pointing out that the value of alcohol to the system is immensely exaggerated, and that when used at all it should be under careful medical advice, and with as much precision as any other powerful drug. But it is loudly complained that nothing has come of this warning, and that things are growing worse and worse, and that the doctors are not doing their duty in not using their professional opportunities to the utmost to stay the evil and to check the force of temptation of social and individual business life, and the fear of which drives so many into the use of stimulants. — *N. LOBBYING.—The Judiciary Committee of the House has had to call to regulate the appearance and disappearance of lobbyists before Congress on the executive departments of the Government. The subject of this bill is alleged to be "to prevent the extortion of lobbyists, claim agents and others, who are supposed to be innocent persons, having claims against the Government." It begins with a preamble, which is as follows: "Whereas the secret employment of persons by those interested in legislation before Congress, and in the payment of claims by the Departments of the Government for the purpose of influencing members of Congress and Government officials in legislation and official conduct, have grown to be not only a system utterly corrupt and demoralizing against public policy, subversive of justice, and a fraud alike upon the employer and the Treasury, but unjust and derogatory to the character for honesty and integrity of those in position and office, who desire to act alone for the public, &c."

Notice to the Friends of the Night School.

This activity of the Young Men's Christian Association is too well and favorably known to require any mention of its merits and of its claims upon the benevolence of all philanthropists as well as Christian citizens.

There was, perhaps, never a time when this School promised more good by way of improving the boys of the city by this means than at the present.

Numbering about forty pupils, who every night in the week are taught and trained in those things that go to make them good and useful citizens, instead of being left to roam round the streets without guide, aim or object, nothing could be more desirable than the continuation of this School.

But it becomes necessary to make known to the citizens that all the funds for its support are exhausted, and it must be discontinued at once, unless the means are immediately placed in the hands of the committee to keep it up.

We are sure that this notice is all that is needed to secure the desired help.

All funds for the above object will be sent to G. H. ROBINSON, Treasurer of School Board, I. C. O'NEAL, Pres't, Y.M.C.A. G. H. ROBINSON, GEORGE R. HILL.
